Nikita Warns of Consequences of Nuclear Conflict

Soviet Leader Blasts Peking's War Theories

E. Germans Hear Khrushchev Call For Free W. Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev challenged the Chinese Communists today to mend their ways if they want to stay in the Soviet camp and said Communist policy cannot be based on war.

Khrushchev did not call the Red Chinese by name. He used the fiction of attacking their Albanian allies.

Scorns Peking's Theories

Pouring scorn on Peking's war-and-peace theories, Khrushchev warned the East German Communist party's sixth congress that communism cannot win in a nuclear war. Such a conflict, he said, would bring unimaginable destruction and death in the world.

Speaking clearly in the context of his argument with Peking over war and peace as it applies to Communist expansion, Khrushchev pleaded that the fight for peace was the "prime task for socialism."

He departed from his text and waved his arms as he declared: "Russian Communists never started a war to carry communism to victory. Some who call themselves Marxists and Leninists want to win Socialist victory by war."

Dropping his voice to make his point clear, he warned:

Warns of U.S. Power

"The United States has 40,000 atomic or nuclear warheads. What would happen if one let all those bombs come down on humanity? Seven hundred to eight hundred million people would perish. Countries would be rubbed out."

"Would socialism win by a thermonuclear war? No. You cannot build socialism in an atomic-infested territory."

"A 100-megaton bomb — on France or West Germany — would hit you. This I only say to show you the effects. We tried out this bomb and that is what our scientists have calculated."

In his major policy speech in East Berlin, the Soviet premier also:

Called for establishment of West Berlin as a free city guaranteed by the United Nations Nations with foreign troops remaining "for a certain time" under the U.N. flag.

Claimed he was victorious in

1 Driver Hurt Badly When Trucks Crash

Two tractor-trailer outfits, one hauling wine, the other steel, swerved on an icy stretch of Route 224 just west of Ellsworth Tuesday night at 11, sending one driver to the hospital with serious injuries.

Listed in fair condition at South Side Hospital in Youngstown is Henry Platek, 53, of Lodi, New Jersey, whose van loaded with wine, overturned in the mishap. He suffered fractured ribs, internal injuries, fractured left knee, lacerations of the face and a fractured chest bone. He had to be pried from his cab.

The Canfield barracks of the State Highway Patrol said Platek's truck, traveling east, sideswiped the steel truck, driven west by Walter W. Cook of Allensport, Pa. Platek's rig careened off the left side of the highway and rolled over in the ditch six-tenths of a mile west of Route 45. His cargo of wine remained intact.

The scene of the accident was covered by lingering snow and ice, the patrol said.

A citation was not issued by investigators pending further study of the mishap.

Council To Act on Merit System

Columbiana Wage Changes Proposed

COLUMBIANA — A proposed new wage scale for village employees, incorporating a system of wage classification within each job, will be brought before Council early next month, Dale Klingensmith, finance committee head, announced at Tuesday night's Council meeting.

The new system will make possible wage increases for each employee on a merit basis. With the old system of one rate of pay for each job, employees had to wait for a general pay raise. Primary increases under the proposed ordinance will be in the salaries of department heads, Klingensmith said.

A new position of superintendent of utilities will be created by the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs combining the duties of the job of superintendent of electricians and superintendent of water and sewers, both of which will be dissolved.

Klingensmith said he feels that the new system will bring about a closer relationship among village employees.

Get Salary Increases

Council passed an ordinance raising the salary of each member of the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs to $240 annually, payable quarterly beginning in January of 1964. For each additional meeting attended other than the regular 24 meetings, each member will receive $10.

The total amount for one year cannot exceed $300. This is the first pay raise for the board since 1945 when the pay was set at $125 per year.

Outlines CD Plan

Newly appointed Civil Defense Director Robert Patchen outlined his immediate plans to Council, stating that setting up a complete staff is his first aim. He has appointed Melvin Nulf as deputy director.

Expanding the shelter program in the village is high on the list of things to be done by the newly-formed organization. Patchen will welcome inquiries from with the organization.

On the recommendation of Police Chief William McGuckin, Council raised the pay of Patrolman Richard Rhodes from $390 to $400 per month, effective immediately. The reappointment of R. Donald Hisey as street commissioner was also approved.

2 Mahoning Legislators Present Bills

By WILLIAM S. VANCE

News Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS—Two Salem area legislators joined in the rush Tuesday as the first flurry of bills landed in the Ohio House of Representatives hopper.

Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-Mahoning, introduced two bills. One would require public hospitals to provide free drugs to indigent mental patients after discharge.

The other would levy a one per cent excise tax on furs, cosmetics, jewelry and women's apparel to establish and finance a widow's pension fund.

Gilmartin said the size of the pension would be decided by the Ohio Department of Public Welfare within the range of $25 to $100 a month.

A widow would qualify if she is a citizen of the United States; has not remarried; her income from all sources does not exceed $750 a year; and the net value of her personal property, less encumbrances, does not exceed $6,000.

Rep. Thomas J. Barrett, D-Mahoning, introduced a bill to establish a state advisory commission on children and youth.

The bill provides for a 15-member commission, appointed by the governor with the consent of the senate, to serve under the welfare department.

Alliance Mayor Named by Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes today appointed Alliance Mayor Dave Mainwaring as state registrar of motor vehicles.

The post was made vacant Tuesday when Rhodes moved Wayne Ward, whom he had named earlier to the registrar's post, to the job of state personnel director.

Gas Co. To Seek Rate Boost Here

By VIRGINIA HURRAY

A new rate proposal by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. will call for a 2.8 percent over-all increase in cost for fuel usage to Salem's gas customers, who number more than 4,000.

The new rate proposal, which will be the subject of a City Council "committee of the whole" meeting at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, will ask that minimum bills be raised from $2.40 to $3. This 25 per cent increase in cost for fuel will effect "between three and four per cent of the customers in Salem," according to William R. Hochradel, company manager here.

Cost of fuel for all other customers, regardless of the amount of gas used, will be increased 44 cents.

Hochradel said: "Our cost of service to anyone whether he uses gas or not is more than three dollars. Our purpose in raising the minimums is to attempt to see that those who use only small amounts of gas actually defray the expense of having the service. Otherwise, the company's expense in servicing them would need to be carried by other customers."

An ordinance permitting the present gas rates was approved by City Council Dec. 15, 1959, and went into effect after 30 days, on Jan. 14, 1960. The contract of the

Bill Would Add 2 Tracts of 40 Acres to City

Ordinance Affects Smith Well Field, Waterworth Park

An ordinance authorizing annexation of two tracts of land totaling nearly 40 acres to the city of Salem was introduced and given first reading at a regular City Council session Tuesday evening.

Three other ordinances were introduced, given three readings and passed unanimously. Two of these ordinances provide for payment of claims for personal in-

Annexation Study To Be Conducted

Harold England, Perry Township zoning officer, and Dale Paxson and Joe Kornbau, township trustees, have accepted City Council President Ford Joseph Jr.'s invitation to work with a special committee of council studying possible annexation problems.

Also on the newly-formed committee with Councilmen James Aldom, Charles Gibbs and John E. Rance will be the city engineer, solicitor, mayor and representatives of the Salem Area Industrial Development Corporation and Salem Area Chamber of Commerce.

The committee was formed at the suggestion of Councilman Rance in anticipation that the township may request annexation "within the next 10 years."

The other ordinance passed vacates an alley running 207 feet from Perry St.

Aldom Introduces Bill

Councilman James Aldom introduced the ordinance authorizing annexation of two tracts of land to Salem. One of the tracts is approximately 8.3 acres, and the other contains about 31 acres.

The ordinance calls for annexation of an 8.3 acre section, which is the northern end of Waterworth Memorial Park, and for adding to the city proper approximately 31 acres off the end of W. 8th St. along the Pennsylvania Railroad. The latter tract is known as the Smith well field and is city owned.

Councilman Harold J. Asty offered the two ordinances calling for claim payments, which will

Council Confirms Mayor Appointees

City Council Tuesday night approved Mayor Dean B. Cranmer's reappointments of Mrs. Fred Cope to the board of health and Ralph J. Mancuso to the park commission.

Mrs. Cope and Mancuso have served one term on the board and commission, respectively.

Appointments to the five-member board of health are for five years; to the three-member park commission, for three years. Members of both are appointed by the mayor, subject to City Council approval.

The mayor also told Council he is appointing C. Harold Musser, vice president of the First National bank, to his second six-year term on the city planning commission. Members of the commission are not subject to reaffirmation by Council.

Senate Rejects DiSalle Appointees

Rhodes Cabinet Is Approved

House Gets Bill on Vehicle Inspection

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Voting along party lines, the Republican-dominated Ohio Senate began wholesale rejection today of appointments by former Democrat Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Leaders of the upper house said it might be mid-afternoon before roll calls are completed on some 90 appointments to various boards, commissions and posts since the 1961 adjournment of the previous legislature.

They explained that a voter-approved change in the state constitution provides for automatic approval of gubernatorial appointments in the absence of Senate rejection during a regular session.

In the past, unacceptable appointments were allowed to die in the Senate rules committee without floor action.

Across the Capitol, additional bills prepared for introduction in the House include one for compulsory motor vehicles inspection

Fight on JFK Budget Shapes Up In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A thundering battle of the budget appears to be shaping up in Congress.

Its outcome may determine how much of President Kennedy's proposed tax cuts and welfare legislation will get through.

Kennedy will present to Congress Thursday a budget of around $99 billion. It will be accompanied by a Treasury estimate that the spending involved would add more than $10 billion to the deficit in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

No one in the administration regards it as a happy circumstance that the President will have to report so much projected red ink spending at a time he is asking Congress to slice about $6 billion off of tax receipts in the same year.

The reaction could affect his whole three-year, $13.5 billion reduction program. It could spell painful progress for welfare proposals he said Monday in his State of the Union message "we cannot afford to postpone."

Budget balancing has been a highly touted but non-effective

U.N. Continues Congo Buildup

Wary of Tshombe's Surrender Offer

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga. The Congo (AP)—Wary U.N. officials continued their military buildup in Katanga today as they awaited Moise Tshombe's next move following his announced readiness to end his 2½-year secession.

Military authorities on the scene treated the surrender offer with extreme caution even though the Congolese central government agreed to Tshombe's demand for a full amnesty. It was his lone remaining condition for returning to the Congo fold.

Indian troops advancing on Kolwezi were reported under Katanga mortar fire Tuesday night. The Indians suffered one wounded in a sharp fight earlier in the day. They were reported 72 miles from the Tshombe stronghold and its vital mines and utilities which the secessionists once threatened to blow up.

While U.N. troops in the field kept on the alert, signs multiplied elsewhere that Tshombe's long fight for Katanga independence was at an end.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, often skeptical in the past about Tshombe's pronouncements, welcomed the Katanga leader's new promise to cooperate with the United Nations. Thant said in New York he hoped Tshombe's readiness to allow U.N. troops freedom of movement would be put into effect promptly.

Nine of Tshombe's white officers, obviously not trusting in any amnesty promises from the Leopoldville government, cleared out of Kolwezi and crossed the border into Northern Rhodesia. Tshombe already has paid off the white officers.

A U.N. spokesman in New York announced that Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula and President Joseph Kasavubu had sent letters to Thant assuring him that they

Castro Issues Revolution Call To Latins

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro denounced today the split in the ranks of world communism and issued a fiery call to the Latin American masses to rise in revolution.

Crouching over his microphones with his eyes flashing, Castro declared it is the duty of revolutionary leaders to rally the masses for combat.

"It is the masses who make history and to make history it is necessary to bring the masses to battle," he shouted in a televised speech, monitored here.

"We don't deny the possibility of a peaceful transition although we are still awaiting the first case," he said.

Addressing a congress of American women meeting in Havana, Castro told the delegates their duty is to fight.

The congress, which drew delegates from many American nations — reportedly including the United States and Canada — has been conferring for five days on women's right and revolutionary duties. Observers were on hand from Europe and Asia. Castro's

Good Feud Adds Zest To Television Viewing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—It's been a long time since a fiery television feud started blazing. The last intramural battle was when Jack Paar walked off his show in a rage at his bosses.

Now a little conflagration has started. On Thursday last a comedian on NBC's "Tonight Show," starring Johnny Carson, mentioned casually that he had been watching "The Merv Griffin Show," a program on the same network. However, when the "Tonight Show" went on the air that night, two words—"Merv Griffin"—had obviously been erased from the sound track.

This is called "blooming," and is normally used to erase offensive, libelous or slanderous language. It is rarely used to eliminate references to programs even on rival networks.

So on Friday, an annoyed and sarcastic Griffin talked about it on his own show.

"I was bloomed out of a show on the same network I work for," he confided sadly. "Is Merv the new four-letter word? Their mistake might have been to turn on the sound for the rest of the show, you know."

This turned into an embarrassing situation. An NBC spokesman explained that the two-word bloop was the result of "a mistaken, emotional reaction" by Perry Cross, producer of the "Tonight Show."

"He was disturbed about newspaper reports — completely unfounded and untrue — that NBC was unhappy about the 'Tonight Show' and planned to replace Carson with Griffin," he continued. "He's sorry he did. But the important thing is that he did it without the knowledge of NBC or of Carson."

Carson is away on a short vacation from the show.

Although the "Tonight Show" under Carson's leadership has not been generating as much comment or as many headlines as it did in the old turbulent Paar days, it seems to be holding its own nicely in the ratings. They are just about the same as they were a year ago when Paar was around—some 35 per cent of the audience watching television that late at night.

But anyway, a good blazing feud adds zest to viewing.

Ex-Premier Agrees To Head New Government of Togo

LOME, Togo (AP) — After agreeing to head a new government, ex-Premier Nicholas Grunitsky took on today the burden of finding jobs for angry former soldiers who seized power Sunday and killed President Sylvanus Olympio.

Unemployment was expected to be Grunitsky's major task. Only 7 per cent of the 1.5 million people in this poverty-stricken West African state hold full-time jobs.

B&W to Close One Shop In Alliance

ALLIANCE — The Babcock & Wilcox Company announced today that it plans to terminate operations at its Rush Street Works here by the end of this year.

Closing of the local plant, the smallest of seven operated by the company's Boiler division, will not affect two other B&W Alliance facilities, the Research & Development Center, and the Keystone Works, which produces welded steel tubing.

G. A. Profit, general works manager of the Boiler division, revealed today that the closing was authorized "with great reluctance and only after an exhaustive study of many factors."

Primary reasons for the decision, he said, were obsolescence of plant and structures, and the limited space available, which make it impractical to place Rush Street in a position to handle the larger components required by today's huge steam generating units.

Nearly 200 persons now on the Rush Street payroll will be released gradually until plant activity ends.

B&W officials emphasized that the Research and Development divisions facilities and the Keystone Plant of the Tubular Products division, which are now employing upwards to 900 persons, are not affected by the closing plans for the Rush Street Works.

Grunitsky, 49, a brother-in-law of the slain Olympio, agreed Tuesday to head a new government. But the nine-member military insurrection committee that overthrew Olympio still held power. It was reported signing up recruits for a new army as its solution to the unemployment problem.

Grunitsky, whose Progress party opposed Olympio's nonalignment policies, announced a policy of African unity and alignment with other former French colonies in Africa. The announcement was expected to increase friction with President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, who is lined up with another group of African states and would like to annex Togo.

Emmanuel Bodjolle, 35, a stocky old ex-sergeant, spoke for the ruling junta and the estimated 300 former soldiers in the French colonial forces who overthrew Olympio's administration.

Bodjolle said the group repeatedly asked the Olympio regime to take them into the Togo army, a force of about 1,000 men, or into government employ. Olympio, 61, an economist trained in Britain, Germany and at New York's Columbia University, felt his country could not afford a large military budget.

Funeral services were held for Olympio Tuesday in his native village of Agoue, across the border in Dahomey. Shortly after the funeral Olympio's 85-year-old father died of a heart attack.

High Cost of Doing Business Hurting American Industry

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — One thing most businessmen will contend is wrong with the state of the union is the seemingly constant rise in the cost of doing business.

And increasing competition from abroad makes the problem keener today, as both the President and congressional leaders have pointed out.

Caught in the bind, American industry is trying all kinds of tactics to cut back on the cost of producing and fabricating and distributing. Machinery to cut man hours of labor, economy drives to hold down phone calls or waste of paper clips, analysis of real costs of producing individual items.

And ideas for paring costs whether in the production line, inventory storerooms, or office where paperwork seems to snowball, come from all sides.

Some manufacturers make a point of showing customers how to cut their costs. Outside agencies are springing up, either to track down unnecessary costs, or to train a firm's executives to do so, or to furnish experts for once in awhile tasks.

Here is just a sampling, a few of the many that are increasingly offered management in its endless fight:

A paperwork simplification program is offered customers of Standard Register co., of Dayton, Ohio. M. A. Spayd, its president, holds that much of the mountain of such work is unnecessary. He says the piece of paper itself is only five per cent of this unnecessary cost, the rest being the effort to produce the final record.

His program often shows customers how they can buy fewer forms (which he sells) by making one form do the work of two or more, and cut out duplication of work. What is needed, Spayd said in an interview, is the application of value analysis — long used by purchasing agents, engineers and production experts — to the firm's management and clerical divisions as they tend to get topheavy.

Computers and other high speed data processing equipment have increased unnecessary paperwork by making already complex business systems still more complex, he holds.

One of a number of agencies in the field is Value Analysis Inc. of Schenectady, N.Y., which asserts its techniques can usually spot from 20 to 25 per cent of the cost of a product as unnecessary. It says that in servicing some 50 companies in the United States it has helped remove $45 million of unnecessary costs.

Among others in the field are the Reliability Dynamics Institute of West Acton, Mass., and Los Angeles, which offers courses on quality cost analysis; and R.C. Neal Company, Buffalo, N.Y., which teaches buyers not to be interested in inventories as such. It analyzes the cost of keeping an inventory, the value of turnover of company funds, to find the most profitable amount of goods to have on hand and the rate of reordering.

Many companies are cutting down on costs by calling in outside experts rather than maintain their own staff of experts.

State of the President: 1963

The annual review of the State of the President, as furnished by John F. Kennedy for the second time, featured these high lights:

1. A Democratic president finally has thrown out the false credo of many members of his party that the chief use of progressive income taxes is redistribution of wealth. President Kennedy is not interested in trying to siphon wealth from the rich to the poor via government, minus 10 per cent. He wants to use the income tax, instead, to stimulate capital investment, thereby making more employment opportunities. He has ditched the obsession of many leftist members of his party and its labor union backers about sharing poverty. He wants to share wealth and he wants to create more wealth to be shared.

2. The State of the Union message, which has been dealing more and more with the state of the world, now is an exposition of international problems as they affect and influence the United States. American isolationism, less vocal than it used to be, is no less determined. It becomes an essential task of each chief executive to offset the vigor of those who would like to withdraw from the world and its tangle of seemingly insoluble problems. Like his immediate predecessors, Mr. Kennedy is going all out to save foreign aid from critics disenchanted by evidence of spotty results who would like to ditch the entire program and withdraw from a world whose many imperfections loom larger in their minds than its occasional good qualities.

3. BESIDES offsetting outright isolationists, Mr. Kennedy feels he must resist the attitudes of those inclined to become too optimistic. Evidence of disagreement among coercionists—usually called Communists—should not be taken at face value, he warns. Coercionists are disagreeing only over how to get rid of free choice, not over whether free choice should be destroyed. They are of one mind about its destruction. Therefore, defense spending must continue to take more of the national income. Therefore, aid to other countries must continue at a high level. The United States can point to evidence of success in its worldwide resistance to coercion, but the battle hasn't been won.

4. The President feels that the ultimate strength of the United States and the Free World will be generated by the quality of the American people; that they must be educated better, given better health care and a wider margin of security in the event of costly illness when their productive earning years are ended.

5. He believes that the rate of economic growth, which has been improving, should be made to improve a great deal more by a sane tax policy, prudent management of government affairs and a growing sense of confidence at home that will run parallel with a growing sense of confidence abroad.

6. Mr. Kennedy sees no insoluble problems, only difficult ones. He advocates only one sweeping reform—in taxation—and it was first proposed more than a generation ago by the late Andrew M. Mellon, a Republican secretary of the treasury.

IN THE PARTISAN analysis that always follows these annual reports on the State of the President it may be overlooked that President Kennedy has moved from a political position a trifle to the left of center to a position a trifle to the left of conservatism. It may even be overlooked in the excitement of opening a new session of Congress that the 1963 report on the State of the President could have been made by Herbert Hoover, or Calvin Collidge.

It might even have been made by Mr. Kennedy's own father, one of America's foremost financial experts.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy's annual message to Congress is inaccurately entitled "The State of the Union" for Mr. Kennedy omitted reference to some of the most important subjects confronting America today, particularly how economy shall be saved from disintegration due to the being exercised by a bloc of labor unions.

David Lawrence monopoly power

Millions of people in two major cities—New York and Cleveland—have had their newspapers suppressed. Financial losses to persons in business and to individuals out of work are heavy and are irreparable.

Nor did the President mention the strike that has tied up shipping for more than three weeks now in the ports of the East Coast and the Gulf of Mexico. Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., at least introduced a bill the same day to provide for compulsory arbitration of strikes in the maritime industry.

Not a single word appeared in the President's message, moreover, concerning the plight of the rank and file of American workers who are the victims of a lack of intelligent leadership.

The President has failed to come to grips with what has really been ailing America the last decade or more—the power of a single group to force prices upward, and the inability of the country immediately to absorb such price increases.

Basic economic ailments will not be cured by indifference. Mr. Kennedy in his message talked fluently about the economic development of the countries of Europe and of the problems faced by the underdeveloped countries.

HE SPOKE in generalities about social-welfare legislation in this country, but didn't make specific recommendations on many of the worth-while objectives he mentioned.

The President seemed to think that, by giving his support to a project for the reduction of taxes, he would be winning applause in the country. To promise a tax cut and to achieve one are, however, two different things.

The voters will get little comfort out of a tax cut if economic uncertainty prevails and if government spending continues as indicated, with the prospect of a record-breaking deficit in the U.S. Treasury next year.

Oddly enough, Mr. Kennedy seemed preoccupied with the idea that the nation at present may not be taking its problems seriously. He said, "in short, both at home and abroad, there may now be a temptation to relax."

One wonders whether the country is, after all, really in a relaxed mood and is indifferent to the dangers both at home and abroad.

As for the young people out of work, Mr. Kennedy seems to be despairing of ways to find productive jobs for them.

He appears to be reverting to one of the ideas of New Deal days, when the Civilian Conservation Corps was organized to take care of many of the younger persons who were unemployed.

The President thinks that the Peace Corps can do something of the same job.

He spoke of the million young Americans who are out of school and out of work and suggests that a domestic peace corps of some kind would serve "our own community needs: in mental hospitals, on Indian reservations, in centers for the aged or for young delinquents, in schools for the illiterate or the handicapped."

He said all this might enable these young men to serve the cause of "domestic tranquility."

THE PRESIDENT had a heading on one section of his message which read: "We need to strengthen our nation by making the best and most economical use of its resources and facilities" but he did not really delve into this highly controversial field beyond stating that new transportation facilities are needed and that the stockpile of goods, including farm products, must be reduced.

In that phrase, "most economical use" of American resources and facilities, is rooted the present-day difficulties of the whole economic system.

The President did include in his address one sentence referring with disapproval to the "growing pressures" by labor leaders for a 35-hour week but the reason for the omission of any reference to labor-management difficulties throughout the country is not apparent unless it be that the subject is a highly controversial one and could cost the President votes in 1964.

The labor unions themselves are the biggest single organized group of voters in the country today and contributed not only energy but money to help the President win his election in 1960.

Mr. Kennedy not long ago attacked businessmen for trying to raise their prices. Yet he has never taken a positive stand with reference to the extreme demands of labor-union leaders evidenced, for instance, in the big strikes in New York City and other parts of the country.

AS LONG as one economic group can control the American system by fixing costs of production, which inevitably affect prices, there will not be a free-market system in the United States, and the law of supply and demand will not operate effectively to bring prosperity.

The government will find itself compelled to intervene as between labor and management if it really wants to stop recessions but such intervention will compound the evils of the present-day system unless it is impartial, objective and fair as between the rival forces.

U.S. Cargoes Help Communists

By VICTOR RIESEL

High officials in our government are pouring hundreds of thousands of American dollars a month into shipping companies which run vital Communist supplies to Communist Cuba and China despite the battle of the quarantine and despite Mao Tse-tung's invasion of India. This money comes in big sums through the Department of Agriculture. Next month, for example, the department will pay one NATO country ship owner more than $168,000 to haul heavy grain from a Gulf port to Bombay, India. This will go to the Norwegian owner of the freighter Hoegh Eagle.

It is scheduled to pick up our foreign aid cargo on Feb. 1 and arrive in Bombay about Feb. 25. For this passage to India it will be paid about $8.40 a ton for 20,000 tons of grain. Profit on this will be high.

YET THE HOEGH EAGLE carried supplies to Communist China in 1962. It must also be realized that it could not profitably make the long trip to Caribbean and U. S. waters unless its cargo hold was full for its return to Asia. There it will unload our grain and could easily pick up material for the Chinese Communists.

Thus the Department of Agriculture makes this possible. It loads up the Hoegh Eagle with "U.S. government-generated" cargo and pays for the freight and transportation under Public Law 480.

If the department did not do so, the "Eagle" would have to choose between our business and the Communists. Obviously, they'd choose us. We pay in hard currency—lots of American dollars. Thus the Peiping government would be deprived of at least one big ship bottom.

UNFORTUNATELY the "Eagle" does not fly alone. When the ransom ship African Pilot hove into Havana last month, its crew noticed at least seven NATO freighters in the Cuban harbor.

There also is the SS Pearl Haven, She, too, has been on the China run, and has supplied Cuba. Her owners picked up a neat $70,000 a few weeks ago. Our government paid her $5.90 a ton for carrying 12,000 tons of grain from Norfolk to Port Said—after she had been to the Soviet military base known as Cuba.

Let's not overlook the Liberian cargo carrier White Sea. Last year she was on the Cuban run—and may hit the Caribbean again soon. Between Nov. 19—not so many days after the crisis on the high seas—and Nov. 26 the ship hauled grain from Houston to Brazil.

I have a list of many other ships whose owners are dedicated to their freedom of the seas. Why not? At these rates and tonnage, a freighter can charge the United States about a quarter of a million dollars for one trip. Some of these ships actually have carried oil pipeline for their Peiping client. And oil—as well as stomachs—is what an army moves on.

BIG NATO country freighters now hit the Cuban ports at the rate of one a day. Obviously they take a load off the Soviet merchant marine ministry. This leaves the creaky Moscow freight fleet free to carry non-nuclear, but powerful weapons and other supplies to the Soviet base in Cuba.

One man whom time has proven to be consistently accurate on intelligence from inside Cuba is New York's Sen. Keating. He told this columnist that it takes considerable Soviet shipping to keep their own military routinely supplied in Cuba.

"Soviet military strength in Cuba today," said Keating, "is nine times what it was July 1. Even after the bombers and missiles have been shipped back, Moscow has 20,000 troops there. They're on anti-aircraft."

"No Cuban troops have been trained for some of the modern strategic weapons. Russians have manned and controlled the fast rocket ships since last August. Russian airmen have exclusive control of advanced MIG fighter-bombers.

"The materiel is still pouring in. They're still bringing in tanks, trucks and the MIG fighters. Obviously they need big ships."

"I tell you that recently at least seven ships carried supplies to Cuba and then hit U.S. ports for cargo to make their round trips profitable."

THIS MEANS that ships which supplied the avowed enemy not only made big profits from our government—but deprived American shippers and American seafarers of profits and jobs.

Why can't our business people and workers handle these cargoes?

Somewhere someone in the government has lost touch with realism. Is there no appeal to reason—or is it lost?

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This is no phony letter. It's strictly on the level and I need your opinion. A social craze has hit this town. It's called "Mix-Mates." The invitation we received yesterday read as follows:

"You are cordially invited for cocktails and dinner at Bill and Mary X's home on January 25th. But you may not come with your husband. He is invited, of course, but he must escort someone else's wife. You will not know the identity of your escort until he arrives."

"Your husband will receive a phone call soon assigning a date. But it must be a deep, dark secret and he is not to tell anyone—not even you. Of course you will be escorted home by the man who brought you. R.S.V.P."

I don't want to be a wet firecracker but the whole idea offends me. My husband says it's novel and should be fun. What would we tell our teen-age children about such a party? Help, Please.—FRAIDY CAT.

Dear Fraidy: Tell your teen-age children that married people go to parties together and they come home together, which is why you and their father cannot accept this tasteless and revolting invitation.

There's enough extramarital hand-pawky without changing partners for kicks and calling it novelty night.

Queen Etiquette

Dear Ann: There's a woman who works in this office who thinks she is Queen Elizabeth. Her desk is on the aisle. Since she has been here since the Year One, the boss, out of respect for old age, introduces her to all the big shots who come this way.

It is sickening the way she gets up, and extends her hand with a regal flourish. Isn't this bad manners? Shouldn't a woman remain seated and wait for the gentleman to extend HIS hand? How straight?—B.D. AD C.

Dear B.D.: Sorry, but the Queen is right. It's perfectly proper for a woman to stand at her desk when being introduced to a person of importance. And, of course, the woman always extends her hand first.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The township trustees are to be commended for remaining alert to the potential dangers of pollution. Let's not stop here. Let's find a satisfactory solution to the problems and have them installed immediately.

Future School Needs

Within a relatively few years the taxpayers of Salem will probably be asked to replace the old Fourth Street School, build a new grade school to take care of the rapidly-expanding southeast area of town, and provide more classrooms for an already-full high school.

I would think that "administrative headquarters" could be added to any one of these projects, at a lot less long-term cost to the taxpayer, than for the board of education to go through with the financial obligation that will no doubt occur if the board acquires the old post office building.

From Our Readers

Cites Need of Pure Water

While the opinions expressed by The News in Monday's "Busy Industries — Dead Fish" editorial are worthy of consideration, they do not fully recognize another problem created by such alleged violation of state laws.

The problem of water pollution, in general, has been of little concern to Salem. We are blessed with an adequate supply of clean, pure water, thanks to our reservoir. But what about our neighbors on downstream — East Liverpool, Steubenville, Marietta, Wheeling, Cincinnati, and even New Orleans? Certainly all of the wastes from Salem's industries alone would have a difficult time turning the water downstream into something unfit for animal or human consumption, but multiply Salem's waste products by the number of similar cities and towns involved and we have an intolerable situation.

Nease Chemical Co. undoubtedly is and has been aware from the start of construction that pollution of the kind allegedly involved is illegal. The solution will not be cheap, but neither are water reclamation and purification projects.

If a lesson is involved in the Nease closure by Dr. Dwork, many area industries, mining concerns and municipal utilities superintendents had better listen well.

The issue is not just the "$35 or $40 worth of dead fish," but the loss of all aquatic wildlife, beautiful clear streams when young boys catch frogs, crayfish and minnows, yes, even the loss of the very water we need to survive.

The township trustees are to be commended for remaining alert to the potential dangers of pollution. Let's not stop here. Let's find a satisfactory solution to the problems and have them installed immediately.

Income Tax Status In Ohio

The state tax study, completed at the instigation of several Ohio organizations, will be looked at with lively interest in many quarters.

One point is obvious: There could be no state income tax without a complete overhaul of Ohio's present tax structure. If there were a state income tax it would bankrupt Salem and scores of other Ohio municipalities.

That's because Ohio's legal rulings say no local subdivision can levy a tax in the same field as the state.

THE LEGAL PRECEDENT was set some years ago by the Ohio Supreme Court, and there is scant likelihood that any subsequent Supreme Court will change it.

Ohio's constitution says nothing about the state's pre-emption of any field of taxation, but the constitution does say state taxes must be uniform.

The court interpreted this to mean any tax must be uniform for all affected citizens. Thus the state could not levy an income tax applying to all Ohioans, then permit one or more municipalities to levy a similar tax.

Library Service

The Salem Public Library continues to be a popular place for Salem district people to obtain good reading material and for school students to find material for their research papers. Although the annual report of Librarian Nellie Glass shows a decline in the number of registered borrowers in 1962, total book circulation increased considerably.

The Library Board of trustees does a remarkable job with the limited funds that are placed at its disposal and they and the library clerical staff deserve a bouquet from the public for their efficient day-to-day service.

We Had Trouble

By Truman Twill

When someone pieces together the whole story of what happened in the Congo after Belgium left in 1960, it will match the story of what happened in our own country after 1776.

This is not the story most Americans are familiar with—not the one they read in their history books. But it happened. Fragments of it are to be found along the bypaths of American history.

You can find wisps and traces in the letters of people who lived at the time, in official records, in reconstructions by novelists of life in this country during the Revolution and the uneasy years before and during the Civil War.

It could happen here, and it did.

As the British had insisted, their colonists were not ready for self-government. During the struggle for independence, the crazy Americans were as busy fighting one another as in fighting the common foe. George Washington scarcely could keep an army together. His men wandered away. The Tories made everything as tough as possible. They thought the revolutionists were riff-raff.

The issue was clouded by mercenaries interested in slaughter for the sake of slaughter. Officers cut each other's throats and conspired together. Foreign powers muscled in. The Founding Fathers were not revered.

The taste of independence was to turn to ashes when a headstrong minority subsequently decided to secede from a central government run by incompetents and madmen, headed by Abraham Lincoln, whom they called an "ape."

There was interference by outsiders. The French set up an emperor in Mexico, and

This, according to the court's philosophy would destroy uniformity.

The tax study was made by a group headed by a Miami University economics professor. It was sponsored by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio Education Association, Ohio AFL-CIO and Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants.

All are worried about Ohio's financial situation and what sort of taxes might be levied to increase the state's income.

THE TAX STUDY that Ohio will need an additional $1 billion a year in revenue by 1970 if it is to maintain state services at present standards. That is a staggering sum which surely will be subject to debate.

The study concludes that since Ohio ranks 38th among the 50 states in per capita taxes, it can raise additional revenue without taking undue chances with its industrial future.

The questions to be decided, then, narrow down to two: How much more money Ohio will need and how it will get it.

One thing appears sure as far as the second portion of the question is concerned: The state will not dare bankrupt its municipalities by taking away a principal source of their revenues—the income tax.

Efficient Law Man

Nothing spectacular has marked the career of Police Capt. Howard Forney, whose announced retirement takes effect Feb. 16, thus ending a 20-year association with the Salem police department.

"Cap" has nevertheless been a good, efficient law officer, doing his duty in the public interest as the occasion arose. His friends and associates wish him many years of the "good fishing" that he hopes to do when he goes on pension.

the British—as could have been expected—threw their weight to the secessionists. That's British policy: Weaken the strong and strengthen the weak. Rule Britannia and devil take the hindmost.

The local yokels stole everything that wasn't nailed down and corrupted what they couldn't walk away with.

They made a mockery of independence and human dignity. They told lies, conspired to scuttle liberty and tried to steal the country. They butchered poor Lincoln, and only then did the sober-minded ones realize how close the new country had come to losing its chance to survive.

It isn't over yet. The pulling and hauling still can make a skeptic doubt whether the United States will make the grade into the 21st century without blowing the bit.

There have been heroes, martyrs and blameless purpose whose eyes shone and whose feet never strayed from the paths of rectitude and righteousness. America always has had them, and they have saved the day. No one heard about them at the time, but they were hard at work balancing the scales against goons and bubbleheads. The Congo has them too.

It might be a darned good thing for Americans concentrating on the seamy side of life in the new Congo Republic to remember that critics once were sure the flub-dubs would louse up a new republic here.

But if we made it, who is going to say the Congolese can't make it? They've been at it only a couple of years, after all, and we're still mopping up a civil war that happened a century ago.

Recipe talk sometimes brings us treasured family rules. During a visit in New Jersey, conversation turned to food, and another guest offered us something special: "Would you like a recipe for Fledel, from the Jewish cuisine—a dessert that has been made by three generations of my family?"

Would we? With the recipe in hand in our own kitchen, we tried these interesting cookie-pies. We call them that because they're made in pie plates with bottom and top coverings of cookie-type dough and fillings of raisins, nuts and jam or jelly. Cut in small crossbars, this is a delightful confection to serve with tea.

But see how a recipe travels! The New York grandmother of the recipe's donor made Fledel all her cooking years and taught the rule to her New Jersey daughter. Now a granddaughter living in Pennsylvania is most proficient of all with the rule. This young married cook says she likes to use either thick strawberry preserves or seedless black raspberry jam in the filling. We used homemade cranberry nut jam and this flavor, too, was excellent.

We're giving you the recipe exactly as it was given to us, and the way we successfully made it, when we passed along the rule to still another cook, she preferred to add from 1/2 to 1 cup more flour than is called for to make the dough, and to roll it out on floured waxed paper. Choose the method you can best work with.

Don't worry about baking three cookie-pies at one time. Serve one and store the other two in your freezer. For freezer storage, you may bake Fledel in 8-inch foil pie plates.

FLEDEL
3 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 3 eggs, 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 1/2 cups thick jam or jelly, 1 1/2 cups raisins, 1 1/2 cups coarsely chopped walnuts, 1 tablespoon sugar mixed with 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat eggs slightly. Add oil, lemon rind, lemon juice and orange rind. Mix with spoon to combine, then if necessary finish mixing with hands. Shape dough into a ball. Wrap in foil or saran; chill thoroughly.

Cut into 6 portions; return 5 portions to refrigerator. Roll out 1 portion on prepared pastry cloth to fit bottom of an 8-inch pie plate so that pastry comes up the sides but does not extend over rim. Spread pastry-lined pan with 1/2 cup jam, 1/2 cup raisins and 1/2 cup nuts.

Roll out a second portion of pastry to form top crust. lace on filled pie. Trim edge with fork, wetting pastry edge with water and dipping tines of fork in flour. Prick top crust with fork. Refrigerate. Repeat to make two other pies.

Before baking, sprinkle tops of pies with sugar-cinnamon mixture. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 minutes. Fledel may be stored in freezer.

Try This Perfection Salad

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Darling of sorority and guest houses, Perfection Salad arrived on the scene over a quarter of a century ago. It's been going strong ever since.

How the salad got its name is anyone's guess, though it has been treated to other titles through the years.

Originally this salad was made with unflavored gelatin, and sometimes it still is. But short-order cooks eventually began using lemon-flavored gelatin as the base and this formula became popular.

Now here's another change. We've used the new lemonlime flavored gelatin in the dish.

The other ingredients in Perfection Salad have always been much the same—cabbage, celery and pimiento-stuffed olives or pimiento-although amounts have varied.

The following version is a pretty pale green with slices of pimiento stuffed olives showing up well.

If you have a 3-cup ring mold, you'll find the salad looks extremely pretty turned out of it; if not, use another shape or individual molds. Serve his jellied concoction on salad greens with a main course of meat or fish; it's fine, too, instead of cole slaw with baked beans. You can, of course, offer mayonnaise with it.

A 1933 recipe for Perfection Salad ends with this note: "A man's salad." Why it was considered particularly appealing to masculine tastes is beyond us!

NEW PERFECTION SALAD

1 package (3 ounces) lemonlime flavored gelatin, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 3/4 cup cold water, 1 cup fine knife-shredded green cabbage (lightly packed), 1/2 cup finely diced celery, 12 pimiento - stuffed green olives (thinly sliced), salad greens, Mayonnaise if desired.

Stir together the gelatin, salt and boiling water until gelatin dissolves. Stir in lemon juice and cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in cabbage, celery and olives; turn into a 3-cup ring or other mold into 6 individual molds. Chill until set. Unmold and garnish with salad greens; pass mayonnaise if used. Makes 6 servings.

DEAR READERS: This is a word of caution! Do NOT try to open and refill "fizz" cans! The contents in these cans are under pressure. Do not puncture them or put them in your incinerator. They are so very dangerous . . . and cannot be refilled. Mr. "Joe Blow" says so! That's our little friend who writes the directions.)

When making your own solutions of various concoctions . . . put them in the little spray bottles with the gadget on top that is made of plastic . . . the kind which you have to push up and down to get the spray to come out. These are quite safe. I never throw these little plastic gadgets away. They are interchangeable on many bottles.

Also, when putting these various "homemade remedies" in bottles, take your fingernail polish and write on the outside of the bottle what each one contains. This way you won't get contents mixed up!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: You tell us such wonderful things every day but the best ones you have written are:

Using alcohol to remove ball point pen ink before the garment is laundered, and telling us the clever idea of pinning our back garters to our hose first to keep the seams straight . . . which works like a charm.

Also, for those mothers who have a tight budget such as mine (and who hate to darn heels in socks) if they run a few stitches back and forth as soon as the heel of the sock starts getting thin, it will increase the life of the socks. It is much easier and far less time consuming than to wait until the hole appears.

ZELMA.

DEAR HELOISE: My neighbor says that I should not add salt to my green salad until just before serving it. She claims this wilts the lettuce. Is it so?

DEAR HELOISE: Put your old stiff paint brushes (the ones you've given up on) in an old can and cover the bristles with ordinary vinegar.

Boil this for 15 minutes. If your brush is in especially bad shape . . . you may have to change the vinegar and boil an additional 15 minutes. Your brush will come out as soft and pliable as new and all ready for that waiting paint job.

THE EYES HAVE IT

Remember when eye makeup was restricted to "after dark" use? Today we recognize that eyes are a lovely focal point all through the day as well. It's not only acceptable—it's almost essential. There never has been such a time and demand for eye appeal. You might say that you can choose your eyes the way you select your jewelry or a hat.

Since all eyes are on you, an attractive and well-groomed appearance is important. Regular professional attention is the answer.

at least once a year and for re-electorate license plates.

The Senate unanimously approved cabinet appointments Tuesday submitted by newly inaugurated Gov. James A. Rhodes.

And, without a dissenting vote from Democrats who had complained they were being short-changed on patronage, secretarial appointments in the Senate were agreed upon. Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, said he had assurances of a fair share of patronage for Democrats.

The General Assembly was scheduled to call it quits today until next Monday after a day which saw Gov. James A. Rhodes address Republican caucuses in both houses. He reportedly assured Republican lawmakers of his cooperation with the GOP-controlled legislature.

He also said bills designed to keep his campaign promises are scheduled for prompt introduction. A measure to implement his program for new jobs and industrial development is ready, he said.

Just as the Senate was finishing the routine of confirming a dozen cabinet appointments by the new Republican governor, Rhodes announced the appointment of a 13th.

As the result of the unexpected resignation of State Personnel Director James T. Welsh, an appointee of former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, Rhodes was able to appoint Wayne Ward of Columbus to head that department. Ward, a long-time Rhodes aide in the auditor's office, previously had been designated registrar of motor vehicles.

Ward will take over the unexpired term which Welsh vacated. It ends Feb. 13, 1965.

Department directors confirmed are: Richard L. Krabach, Lima, finance; Pearl E. Masheter, Columbus, highways; George W. Wilson, Akron, industrial and economic development; William O. Walker, Cleveland, industrial relations; William R. Morris, Columbus, insurance; Col. Erwin E. Hosteller, Kent, adjutant general; Denver L. White, Athens, welfare; Donald D. Cook, Columbus, liquor control; Martin A. Janis Toledo, mental hygiene and correction; Fred E. Morr, Xenia, agriculture; Warren C. Nelson, Lebanon, highway safety, and Warren Chase Cleveland commerce.

"The liberating movement is fighting in Angola, in Viet Nam, in Latin America and this fight needs all the united force of the Socialist camp," he said.

Under Thants plan for Congo unification, the central government is required to "immediately enact and, if necessary introduce and defend in Parliament, legislation proclaiming a general amnesty." The Congo Parliament now is in recess after almost voting Adoula out of office.

Tshombe told newsmen in Kolwezi that he, members of his government and all who had served him must be given the amnesty provided for in Thant's plan.

Adoula's Cabinet surveyed the situation at a meeting in Leopoldville Tuesday. Some ministers want to bar Tshombe from any position of leadership in a unified Congo. But Adoula favors keeping a place for him in Katanga, where he is popular despite his military reverses.

Schnell Co. Files Suit Against Union

The Schnell Tool & Die Corp. and the Salem Stamping Manufacturing Co. filed a $1,100,000 suit in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court at Lisbon today against Ormond Long, president of the union at the two plants, and Edward J. Hilland, sub-district director of United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO.

The suit, filed by Atty. Ralph Atkinson, the firms' counsel, charged that the union president issued news statements concerning wages that "gravely tarnished" the reputation of Schnell Tool Die Corp. of 631 W. State St.

"Schnell Tool has thereby undoubtedly already lost, and will continue to lose . . . much valuable business . . ." the suit declared.

the Cuban crisis, prevented the United States from attacking the island and thereby kept communism alive there.

Called for conclusion of a German peace treaty which "will not bring gains to one side and losses to the other." But he set no deadline, saying the Berlin wall had made a treaty a less pressing problem.

Assured the East German Communists Germany will be reunified as a Communist state and anti-Communist forces in West Germany "will be swept away."

The Soviet leader in his 2½-hour speech scornfully reviewed Peking's arguments against his policies. He denied that he had turned soft under U.S. pressure.

He stressed again the need for Communist unity.

Rejects Red China's Demand

"In the relation between Communist parties one has to show patience. Discussions are possible but one has to approach our common goal patiently," he said.

He rejected Red China's demand for a world meeting of Communist leaders to air Moscow-Peking differences.

Wu Hsui Chuan, the Red Chinese delegate, sat expressionless through Khrushchev's speech. In the rising ovation at the end, Wu stood with his arms stiffly at his sides.

Khrushchev ridiculed the Red Chinese idea that peaceful co-existence meant giving up the class struggle in capitalist lands, calling that Peking idea "a stupid nursery maid's tale."

Khrushchev had kind words for the Yugoslavs, who are sitting in a Soviet-bloc party congress as full participants for the first time since the Stalin-Tito break in 1948.

"There are different concepts in various Socialist countries. We are in one phase of development of a Socialist world system. If there are differences of opinion, we won't excommunicate people thinking differently," he said.

"We have differences with Yugoslavia, but it is still a Socialist country. We have differences with the Albanians but they are still building socialism in their state."

This sounded like an appeal to the Chinese Communists to drop their argument with Moscow.

Our Defense Gamble

Just How Much to Scare Reds Is Problem of U.S.

(Last of 3 Articles)

By COL. RAY CROMLEY

Military Analyst

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Defense Secretary McNamara has ordered a detailed study into what weapons most impress the Soviet Union with U.S. strength and determination.

The study, to be completed within six months, is intended to determine:

1. What weapons will convince Nikita Khrushchev and his advisers that they had better not start a war and what weapons are less convincing, whatever their actual military value in war.

2. What weapons might scare Khrushchev too much and trigger him into desperate action.

Why this study is being conducted was learned in a series of interviews with Defense and State Department officials, scientists and military men.

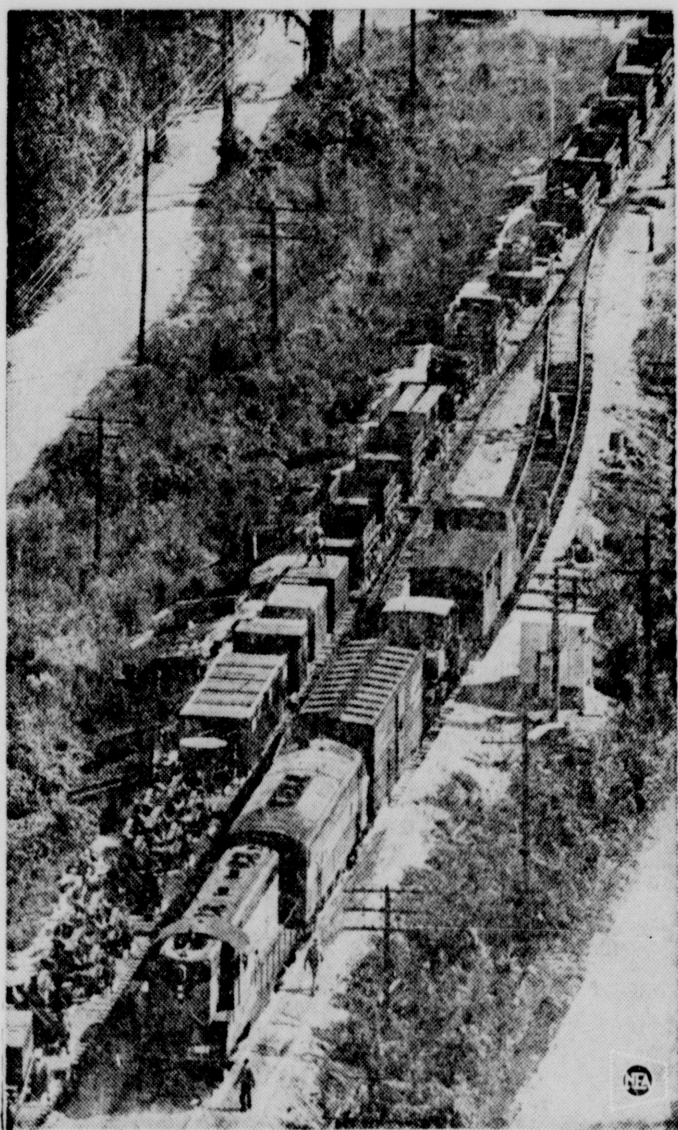

McNamara and his advisers are worried. They are afraid they may have concentrated too heavily on super-efficiency in military weapons. They are afraid that missiles, although they may be very efficient in winning wars, may not be as impressive in preventing wars as are warships, planes and tanks.

And Washington believes that preventing a war is even better than winning a war.

One of the major factors in getting Khrushchev to back down in the Cuba crisis was our ability to mass a huge array of visible force aircraft carriers, submarines, troops, tanks, fighter planes. Reserves were called up. This build-up could be seen and felt. These were normal understandable ways of showing the United States meant business.

But 1,000 intercontinental ballistic missiles standing ready on 1,000 launch pads and silos don't move. Agents for Khrushchev, Fidel Castro or Mao Tse-tung can't see missiles "building up" for a showdown.

FOR DECADES U.S. warships regularly have stopped at ports around the world "showing the flag." Diplomats and military men have long felt this served a purpose in diplomacy and in preventing wars. These U.S. ships showed strength in a way that meant something to people.

CUBAN BUILDUP: Strength that anyone can see clearly.

There is worry in the Pentagon that maybe missiles don't show that strength as clearly. As one military man puts it: "No matter how strong the U.S. is, if the Russians can't see that strength or feel it, or it doesn't impress them, then that strength doesn't serve the ends of U.S. diplomacy and it doesn't do what it should to prevent wars."

ON THE OTHER SIDE of the coin, there are scientists high in White House, Defense and State Department councils who worry that some weapons and de-leads the Russians to start a war or do something else we wouldn't like.

This reasoning in part is back of the fight some of these scientists are putting up against:

1. A strong civil defense program of blast-proof shelters.
2. A strong anti-missile program for protecting U.S. cities from Russian ICBMs.
3. A system for orbiting offensive ICBMs aboard satellites.

The idea is to scare the Russians—but not too much.

Hope Rises For End to Press Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Newspaper Guild and the publishers have agreed on a plan that they feel may solve the key union security issue in the 48-day-old strike against the city's two daily newspapers.

During a 3½-hour bargaining session Tuesday, the union and management decided to meet Thursday morning at the Press and News.

Union leaders and Press management will make an effort then to get 118 employees in the Press' commercial department to join the Guild if they want to. Some 160 of the 278 employees in the Press commercial department are Guild members.

Mayor Ralph Locher plans to make an appeal at that meeting.

The Guild and publishers planned to continue their talks at City Hall tonight. Teamsters Local 473, the other union on strike, has set another session for Thursday afternoon.

Management and the Teamsters also met Tuesday. The mayor reported progress in that session.

The Inter-Union Publishing Corp., consisting of nine craft unions at both papers—has announced plans to publish a daily newspaper in cooperation with the Guild for the duration of the strike. The morning paper, to be called the Cleveland Record, will sell for 10 cents and be published daily except Thursday and Sunday. John Bair of the Plain Dealer staff was named editor.

The announcement said non-striking Teamsters Local 407 will deliver the paper to newsstands and other outlets in the areas beginning Monday. An initial press run of 120,000 is planned.

Double-Talk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If you're going to be a social success in 1963, you'll have to pep up your double-talk.

Practice makes perfect in double-talk, the art of saying what you don't mean—and meaning what you don't say. You can't trust to on-the-spot inspiration. You have to keep everlastingly at it.

For the beginners (and those who have failed to keep up their oral exercises in this form of non-communication), here are a few everyday examples of double-talk —plus their literal translations:

"We thought our daughter would feel more at home in a small community college." (The admissions people at Vassar, Radcliffe, Bryn Mawr, Wellesley and Smith thought so, too.)

"Maude is one woman who does not mind telling her age." (Not that is, since she quit having birthdays 10 years ago.)

"Gee, boss, I'll never be able to understand where you get all your ideas." (You must be stealing them from somebody besides me.)

"Come right in, Joe. Long time no see." (I warned the receptionist to tell this guy I was away on a three-month trip.)

"I think you'll enjoy the corned beef, sir, it's our chef's special for today." (It didn't go very well yesterday or the day before.)

"Frankly, Jim, if you hadn't told me, I wouldn't even have known you had new dentures. (I thought all the members of your family sounded like that when they chewed celery.)"

"Your husband is so witty, Frances! Really, he should be on the stage." (Or is scaffolding the word I'm groping for?)

"That child of yours is as smart as a tack." (And I'd like to be the first to put a hammer to him!)

"I insist, pal, this one's on me." (Then you get the next one, old buddy, after the rest of the crowd arrives.)

"I'm sorry I can't tonight, George, but I could go out with you Friday." (You do get paid on Fridays, don't you?)

"What kind of a woman do you think would marry you merely for your money?" (My kind.)

"Stick with me, kid, and you'll always travel first class." (After all, there's only one fare on the subway.)

"Well, congressman, glad you got re-elected. Good to see you back again. Washington wouldn't be the same without you." (I'll think of his name in just a minute.)

Improved All-Senior Niles Team Faces Salem Friday

Quakers Seek 1st Loop Win

Red Dragons Have 2-2 League Mark

Niles, (5-2), which has been improving each time out, will probably furnish Salem with another stern test when the two schools get together at Senior High Friday night.

Joe Bassett, a veteran of many seasons, has enjoyed several successful campaigns during his tenure as coach at Niles.

The wise mentor has drilled his players in sound fundamentals of the game to substitute for the Red Dragons' lack of height.

Offensively, Niles tries to move the ball with four types of play patterns, and if the chance presents itself, the Red Dragons will fast break.

Salem will be looking for its first win in loop play. As far as the standings go, the outcome won't mean very much.

Harding, which nipped the Quakers 64-60 last week, leads the Ohio Big 8 Conference with a 4-0 record. Salem is 0-2, while Niles has a 2-2 mark.

The tallest man on Niles' all-senior starting lineup is center David Nestor, 6-4. He will be flanked by forwards Donald Anderson 6-0 and Robert 'Bo' Rein 5-11.

Outside at guards for the Red Dragons is Richard Leonard 5-8 and Tom James 5-11.

REIN AND ANDRES are members of the 1962 unbeaten and a third-ranked Niles football team.

Nestor is the leading scorer on the Red Dragons' squad with 92 points.

The Quakers, after losing to Harding, bounced back to thump Ravenna 66-51.

In that clash Coach John Cabas gave Dave Capel a chance to start, and the 5-9 senior awarded his mentor with a sterling performance.

With that change, Rich Sweitzer became the sixth man. The 6-1 athlete was pressed into service late in the third period and he sparked the Quakers as they broke a close game wide open.

Coach Cabas will probably start Bill Beery, Bob King, Rick Platt, Marlin Waller and Dave Capel.

Sauerbrei Elevated To General Manager

Blanton Collier Is Named Cleveland Browns' Coach

CLEVELAND (AP) — Blanton Collier was named head coach of the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League today.

Harold Sauerbrei, business manager of the team, was named general manager.

A guessing game as to who will direct the fortunes of the National Football League club has been going on since Paul Brown was fired as coach and general manager last Wednesday. Brown had served in both capacities since the Browns were organized in 1946.

Collier, 56, was a member of the original coaching staff of the Browns, but left the club in 1954 to become head coach at the University of Kentucky. He rejoined the team as backfield coach after he was removed from his college post following the 1961 season.

Arthur B. Modell, Browns' president, said he hoped to announce the new coaching staff and general manager at a news conference today. He has kept secret his choice of a new field boss but said Tuesday that he has had several conversations with Collier.

Two newspapers reported Tuesday that Collier already had signed a contract as the Browns' coach.

Leo Brauer, sports editor of the Daily Enterprise at Paris, Ky., wrote that Collier had been signed. Collier was a high school coach at Paris and has close relatives there.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram quoted Ray Renfro, veteran Cleveland halfback, as saying he had received a telephone call from Bernie Parrish, the team's player representative, informing him that Collier had signed as coach Monday.

Birdie Tebbetts Says:

It May Take 2 Seasons For Indians to Hit Stride

By HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Sports Editor

BRADENTON, Fla. — (NEA) — George Robert Tebbetts is going to make like the Cleveland Indians are starting all over again in July.

"If I can come up with the answer to a rather puzzling question," says Birdie Tebbetts, assuming the management of the troubled Tribe, "we might have an enjoyable summer."

THE QUESTION is why the Indians have run first or second during the first half of the last three American League seasons and then shown a complete reversal of form during the second half, which is when a baseball outfit gets to the payoff window.

"Possibly the answer is for me to announce to the squad on July 4 that spring training is now over and that we're starting a brand new season," smiles Tebbetts, currently soaking up sunshine on Anna Maria Key off Bradenton.

It was suggested to Tebbetts that it might be a good idea to fly the Indians to Tucson during the All-Star Game break to make the second training session realistic. The boys could work out at Hi Corbett Field again and ride the bus around the Cactus League circuit. That would really make them feel like buckling down for the second half of the campaign.

SHOULD the front office consider a midseason flight to Arizona impractical, Tebbetts might try spring training at Cleveland Stadium in July. Morning workouts never hurt a ballplayer. Palm trees could be brought in and planted in desert sand in the outfield to give the joint a line-nent-spilling atmosphere.

Regardless of where the second training session is held, another opening day would be highly essential. There should be another welcome home parade. The stadium should once more be decorated with flags as the big brass band plays and the mayor throws out another first ball.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION is that Tebbetts have half of the Cleveland pitchers report on June 15, so they'd just be getting in shape with the start of the second half and would not peter out in the stretch.

Tebbetts might tell the hired hands that the American League has adopted a split season, or that the owners have gone in for the Shaughnessy playoffs. Then on Labor Day he could urge them to get in the finals and collect some added money.

It might help no end if Birdie convinced the Indians that the

BIRDIE TEBBETTS
"Might have good summer"

New York Yankees are no longer in the league.

IT IS POSSIBLE, of course, that Tebbetts will get some pitching and hitting from unexpected sources in which case he would not have to resort to psychological gimmicks.

But Tebbetts is running the works on the lakefront, after whirls in Cincinnati and Milwaukee. He can't afford to take any chances in Cleveland, which has had seven managers in eight years.

Both Birdie Tebbetts and the Cleveland club have been moving, you see.

It was inevitable that they would bump into each other.

Wichita Is Beaten In Overtime Clash

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a few hours later than High Noon, but down in the valley known as the Basketball Badlands, two quick-draw guys matched shot for shot. When it was all over, eighth-ranked Wichita had been knocked off by tenacious Tulsa.

That's the way it went Tuesday night as Wichita's Ernie Moore and Tulsa's Jim King sank key baskets time after time until the Hurricane sharpshooter hit the target twice in succession and dropped Wichita 85-83 in double overtime.

Moore connected for two foul shots with 2 seconds left in regulation time for a 67-67 tie, the first time Wichita had pulled even since the opening seconds. Tulsa built a four-point lead with 50 seconds left in the first overtime before Dave Stallworth and Moore evened it again.

In overtime No. 2, King connected on two layups that gave Tulsa a lead it never relinquished. King finished with 18 points while Moore had 15. The high scorers Shed no more tears for Miami's Redskin cagers.

Coach Dick Shridder's gang of sophomores has come of age ahead of schedule. They dumped Ohio University 56-47 Tuesday night, making the Mid-American Conference basketball race wide open—a muddle with Miami in the middle of the free-for-all for first place.

The 'Skins operate with four sophomores in the starting lineup, and there's not a senior on the varsity roster. The way they're going now, it's bad news for their MAC rivals both now and in future campaigns.

Miami was in sad shape a few weeks ago with a 3-5 record, including a horrendous 86-36 loss at Bowling Green. Since then they've zoomed to 8-6, including a revenge conquest of the Falcons on the friendly Oxford court where they ambushed the Bocats for their latest success.

Miami's victory over Ohio U. and Bowling Green's 88-71 whipping of Kent State in the MAC's two-game Tuesday card makes the contenders' conference standings thus:

Ohio U. 3-1, Toledo 3-1, Western Michigan 2-1, Miami 4-2 and Bowling Green 3-3.

Toledo entertained Duquesne in a nonleague Tuesday night and fell 67-53. In another Ohio collegiate feature, unbeaten Akron won its 12th game, 69-46 over Oberlin, to match Wittenberg's 8-0 mark for a first place tie in the Ohio Conference.

Elsewhere in the state, Ohio Wesleyan (8-1) in the O.C. clipped Wooster 86-65, Muskingum defeated Baldwin-Wallace 79-70 and Mount Union beat Capital 70-56 in Ohio Conference play; Case beat Western Reserve 57-54, Wilberforce scored a 101-95 upset of Cedarville (8-2), Steubenville (9-3) won its sixth in a row 92-68 over Geneva, Ashland (8-3) walloped Fenn 98-61 and winless Malone lost No. 11 to Gannon 95-55.

Miami trailed the taller Bocats for about three-fourths of the game, but Jeff Gehring hit a jump shot for a 38-38 tie, then followed up with three more baskets in a row to furnish a lead that stood up. Gehring's 16 points led all scorers.

Bowling Green's victory over lowly Kent ended a three-game MAC skid for the Falcons. Nate Thurmond's 21 points and 17 rebounds led the way.

Gary Player Fires 63 Tune-Up Round

Bing Crosby Golf Tourney Slated To Start Thursday

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—If the current sunny weather holds up, the 1963 edition of Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf tournament starting Thursday could see some of the lowest scoring ever as Gary Player showed in preview.

The stocky pro from South Africa sizzled around the Monterey Peninsula Country Club layout in a 9-under-par 63 Tuesday in a warmup session two days after winning the San Diego Open.

Still when you talk about weather during the Crosby, the "if" is mighty big. Winds and rain aren't unusual and last year a snowstorm forced postponement of the final round.

Winds whipping off the ocean can play havoc with scores with Billy Casper's 277 in 1958 the lowest posted for this event at 72 holes. Last year Doug Ford and Joe Campbell posted matching tallies of 286 with the veteran Ford winning on the first playoff hole with a par.

After the blustery conditions of a year ago, all hopes are for continuation of the present pleasant weather.

Most of the pros were taking practice tours of the three courses played in the Crosby—Monterey Peninsula, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach.

Arnold Palmer, winner of the Los Angeles Open, played an exhibition at nearby Ft. Ord.

Under Crosby's format, each pro has an amateur partner for the pro-amateur division of the competition. Celebrities of entertainment, business and other

AFL Prexy Blasts NFL On Exhibition

DENVER (AP) — A pre-season exhibition scheduled by two National Football League teams Sept. 8 at the Air Force Academy drew a blast from President Cal Kunz of the rival American Football League's Denver Broncos.

The Broncos open their home season the same day in Denver, about 60 miles north of the Academy.

"If they want a football war we'll give it to 'em," was Kunz' comment when he was told of the scheduled game between the Detroit Lions and the Dallas Cowboys.

Kunz said the Broncos would go ahead with their opener playing against either the champion Dallas Texans or the San Diego Chargers.

An Air Force Academy spokesman, Col. James E. Whitmire, deputy chief of staff for personnel at the Academy, said the NFL exhibition had been cleared by Air Force Headquarters in Washington.

He said the exhibition was being sponsored by the Academy and added that he hadn't seen any of the Broncos dates for next season. Whitmire, who is head of the project, said, "we attempted to find out but were told their schedule wouldn't be ready until February."

Jack Faulkner, Bronco general manager and head coach, said he'd tried to schedule a game at Falcon Stadium, but "was told pro teams could not use the stadium."

The exhibition game was announced by the Lions, Cowboys and the Air Force Tuesday.

NBA Hears Talk To Expand Loop

Cleveland Among 4 Who Seek Franchise

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The National Basketball Association's Board of Governors was expected to hear expansion proposals today.

Applications for franchises have been made in behalf of Philadelphia, Cleveland, Kansas City and Baltimore. The possibility exists that the NBA's annual meeting could adjourn without any definite action being taken, which would be tantamount to rejection of the applications.

Some NBA clubowners are opposed to expansion now on the ground that before any newcomer is strengthened by existing player stock the weaker teams already in the NBA should be strengthened. They also argue that the 1963 crop of players from the college ranks is not up to the usual standard.

The Board of Governors is studying a modified draft rule under which the weaker teams would be strengthened by taking a few players from the strong. Details have not been worked out, but the plan was said to have a fairly good chance of passage.

East-West NBA All-Star Game Is Scheduled Tonight

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Professional basketball presents its showcase of jewels tonight in the annual East-West All-Star Classic but one of the coaches, Fred Schaus of the West, was confronted with a problem.

The Los Angeles Lakers' pilot planned to start what he and most all cage observers believe would be perhaps the finest five in the history of the National Basketball Association attraction.

Schaus named as his starting team Walt Bellamy of Chicago and Bob Pettit of St. Louis as forwards, Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco at center and Elgin Baylor and Jerry West of Los Angeles as guards.

It developed that Schaus' ideas met universal applause from all sides except the men who run the Eastern Division.

They contended Bellamy was named by the selectors as a center, behind Wilt (The Stilt); that Baylor is a forward and should start there, and San Francisco's Guy Rodgers should open hostilities at his nominal position, a guard.

Schaus contends that once a squad is selected, he should be permitted to position his players as he pleases. He also thought the fans would appreciate seeing Baylor playing the backcourt against his opposite number, Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals.

It could be also that Schaus feels that Baylor, who is still hampered by a trick knee, might be more valuable at guard than at forward.

The board of directors of the league were scheduled to make a ruling on the controversy sometime today.

The coach of the East, Red Auerbach, meanwhile, decided on his starters— forwards Jack Twyman of Cincinnati and Tom Heinsohn of Boston, center Bill Russell of Boston and guards Bob Cousy of Boston and Robertson.

Game time is 8:35 p.m. (PST.) 11:35 p.m. (EST).

The host Lakers expected a sell-out crowd of about 15,000 in the Sports Arena.

The West is a slight favorite.

ADVENTURE IN GIVING by Raymond B. Fosdick, with Henry F. and Katharine D. Pringle. The story of the General Education Board from its establishment in 1902 to its end in 1960. There is perhaps no other agency that has done so much to stimulate and guide education, particularly in the South, than this philanthropic organization founded established by John D. Rockefeller. An almost unique feature of this foundation was that it was meant to be concluded, and not to go on and on.

MAKE FRIENDS OF TREES AND SHRUBS by Alma C. Guillett. This unusual book has a panel drawing of the leaves, flower and fruit of the tree along the margin of the page, a brief description of it and a myth or true story of each variety.

A COMPLETE GUIDE TO FLOWER ARRANGEMENT by Victoria Pearl Fort. A beautiful as well as useful book, it contains principles of arrangement, advice on containers, color, type of arrangement to use with particular setting. BUNCHE INSPECTS UN TROOPS — Ralph Bunche, UN undersecretary, inspects Irish UN troops in Kipushi, near Elisabethville, Katanga province of the Congo. Bunche said the UN intends to exercise its "right of freedom of movement" in the direction of Kolwezi, headquarters of Moise Tshombe, insurgent leader.

waterway, also a list of nautical terms.

THE VITAMIN HUNTERS by Albert von Haller. There is much about the history of the use of various foods here, as well as the story of the development of the science of nutrition, and those who worked at it.

A THOUSAND CLOWNS by Herb Gardner. A comedy with zany characters, impossible situations, wacky dialogue - but it is fun to read.

THE ONE AND THE MANY by John Brooks and others. A diversified report on a conference sponsored by the Corning Co. which brought together people from all over the world to discuss the individual in the modern world. Among topics discussed are education, leisure, work and humanization of labor.

MY LAND AND MY PEOPLE by the Dalai Lama of Tibet. The Dalai Lama tells the story of his life and of his flight from Tibet. He begins with a description of his home community and goes straight through chronologically to the present. Since little is known generally of much that he speaks about, it is a fascinating story, although very sad.

YOU'RE ENTITLED by Harry Golden. Just as devoid of coherence or plot or any set plan as the other Golden books, but just as delightful is this latest. Some of the comments have taken on a world-wide flavor, for Mr. Golden did some traveling during the period covered in this book.

GRAND SLAM by Bob Casey. An anthology selected from eight of this popular journalist's most popular books, the subjects covered are as wide as could be imagined. Stories about people, some famous, some unknown, stories about war, stories about strange places - they are all here, all interesting.

ATLANTIC FURY by Hammond Innes. The author of "The Wreck of the Mary Deare" and "The Doomed Oasis" writes another adventure-suspense novel about men and the sea. Douglas Ross sets out to discover if the Major George Braddock who has just evacuated a small island in the Hebrides, in spite of the meteorologist's warnings, is really his long-missing brother Ian. This is much more likely to appeal to men than to women readers.

MADAME CASTEL'S LODGER by Frances Parkinson Keyes. Mrs. Keyes has here produced her most serious work to date. It is a fictionalized biography of P.G. T. Beauregard, who was the first Confederate to attain the rank of General, and about whom there are a good many legends still current in the South. The General was not only a renowned soldier but also devastatingly attractive to the ladies. She has researched her material well and has told a very good story.

THE CAPE COD LIGHTER by John O'Hara. Twenty-three short stories by this author who can create characters and situations that hold the interest and reflect in bold outline incidents in daily life. Sometimes the characters are on the seamy side, and sometimes the incidents are not pleasant ones, but all reflect the ability of the writer.

Mystery: THE DEMONIACS by John Dickson Carr. Mystery, romance and murder in eighteenth century London.

Western: The Walking Hills by Cliff Farrell. Trouble at the end of the railroad when poor people from Eastern cities try to settle on grazing land.

THE MOON-EYED APPALOOSA by Bill Gulick. A troop of cavalry tries to keep peace in Idaho and part of Washington shortly after the Civil War.

Science Fiction:

THE EXPERT DREAMERS edited by Frederick Pohl. Sixteen science fiction stories by scientists who are now working with science problems, but who are imagining here what the future may bring.

For Young People: THE FORT OF GOLD by Ellis Dillon. Three Irish boys become involved in a hunt for Spanish gold, but after they find it, criminals get into the act.

TORPEDO RUN by Robb White. Mutiny and adventure aboard a Navy P.T. boat during World War II.

NON-FICTION: RELIGION OF THE GREEKS AND ROMANS by C. Kerényi. Professor Kerényi analyzes the Greek and Roman religion from a variety of aspects and tries to present to us what this religion meant to the people who practiced it. It is a much more thoughtful book than a mere recitation of the religious customs of these people would have been, and much more interesting to the student of ancient cultures.

8:30 — Ch. 5, Going My Way: Preston Foster stars as a wealthy man who pledged money for a memorial and donation to the church but who has not followed through with it in "A Memorial for Finnegan."

9 — Ch. 3, Bob Hope: Lana Turner, Anita Bryant, Janis Paige, Miss USA, Jerry Colonna and Peter Leeds join Hope in these taped highlights of his Christmas tour.

9:30 — Ch. 8, Dick Van Dyke: This episode shows the indecision faced by Rob in younger days when he tries to decide whether to get married on a three-day pass or go tell his former sweetheart that he has found someone new.

USE FOR DISCARDED LICENSE PLATES — Dawn Young, 11, and her sister, Joy, 6, of Colebrook, N.H., during a visit to Vermont, look at a portion of some 450 discarded Vermont license plates which embellish a wooden shed off the beaten track in Victory, Vermont.

U.S. Hopes French Change Attitude On NATO Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington officials are refusing to take President Charles de Gaulle's "no" as a final answer to its proposal that France join with the United States and Britain in forming a NATO nuclear striking force.

The hope here is that the French attitude eventually will change. The U.S.-British project is just beginning and will take several years to carry through.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball returned Tuesday from a week-long trip to Europe and said the United States is prepared to move ahead vigorously on formation of the force with or without French cooperation.

Other officials said privately that De Gaulle's stand does not command support generally in Western Europe. They also said that even though the United States intends to move ahead it does not intend to close the door to French cooperation in the future.

Ball is reporting to President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the results of his visit to Paris, where he talked with the 15-nation NATO council, and to Bonn where he met with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. It was understood that he was able to report the prospect for general cooperation of the NATO nations are good in spite of the French stand.

Detroit, Mich., was founded in 1701 by Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac. The name means "of the straits" literally.

Construction Period Covers 1959-62

State Reviews Road Projects
In Columbiana, Mahoning Counties

Eleven major road construction projects in Columbiana and Mahoning Counties took place from 1959 to 1962, a report from the Ohio Department of Highways reveals.

In addition to the 11 road constructions, the report presented by Highways Director E. S. Preston to Michael V. DiSalle, former governor, lists 44 road widening and resurfacing projects in the two counties in the same four-year period.

Nine deficient bridges were also improved.

The major Columbiana County road constructions were topped by two on Rt. 30 in East Liverpool: one over Hill Ave., a 1.88 mile construction costing $4,029,340; the other a 1.43 mile construction costing $5,828,650.

Major road construction in Mahoning County included four projects in Youngstown and one in Boardman Township.

Woman In Crash, Then Run Over by Auto

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Chloe Elhoff, 65, had a Tuesday afternoon auto accident in which she was involved twice, once as a motorist and once as a pedestrian.

Police said Mrs. Elhoff's car collided with another at a city intersection. Witnesses told police she was thrown to the ground.

Apparently uninjured, she started to get up. As she did, her own driverless auto knocked her down. Witnesses said its wheels evidently had locked and it made a circle in the wide intersection.

Even after hitting the pavement the second time, Mrs. Elhoff assured police she was unhurt and was taken home.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Epileptic Should Shun Some Jobs

Epilepsy is one of the most misunderstood of diseases. In biblical times and in some parts of the world today epileptics have been thought to be possessed by evil spirits.

Now that we doctors have taken a closer look we know that epilepsy is not a single disease but that more than a dozen types of seizure have been lumped under this one term. The mechanism is an abnormal electrical disturbance in the brain but in most cases what causes this is unknown.

Much of the fear associated with epilepsy is due to this very fact—fear of the unknown, especially when it has to do with the brain. This is aggravated by the fact that the victim often has no way of knowing when he is going to have his next attack.

In a few epileptics there are warning signs that come to be recognized as such and these persons can at least prevent a fall.

HOW WOULD YOU FEEL if you woke up lying on a crowded sidewalk surrounded by gaping strangers and were told that you had cried out, fallen, gone into convulsions, drooled, frothed at the mouth, breathed heavily or snored loudly and rolled your eyes?

Since the epileptic has no recollection of any of these things, he is asked to take the word of strangers. Since he can neither prove or disprove their story he becomes embarrassed and resentful. If, in addition to this, he finds that he has bitten his tongue and perhaps urinated, his embarrassment is aggravated.

This is a description of the severe or grand mal attack. Many attacks are far less severe and may amount to only a momentary blackout.

Until the electric brain wave recorder was invented a few years ago, the diagnosis was hard to make because the attacks so rarely occurred when a doctor or other trained observer was present.

NO MATTER HOW suggestive of epilepsy the description of a bystander might be, the doctor who examined the sufferer later could not be sure that the seizures were not hysterical or feigned. Now by examining the brain waves of an epileptic, even when he is not in an attack, a characteristic pattern can be recognized.

It might be well at this point to explode the myth that epileptics either are or will become insane. A few feeble-minded or insane persons also have epilepsy just as they may also have diabetes or dandruff. On the other hand many brilliant and talented persons in the past did not let this handicap prevent them from achieving greatness of one sort or another. Evidence points to the fact that Julius Caesar and Felix Mendelssohn were epileptics.

BECAUSE THE attacks come suddenly and unexpectedly, the sufferer should not be allowed to swim, ride a bicycle, drive a car, climb a ladder or engage in any other activity that might endanger his life should an attack come.

In general alcohol should be avoided; plenty of restful sleep should be allowed, and mental and physical exercise (but not such contact sports as football, wrestling, and boxing) should be encouraged. Several drugs have been used with varying degrees of success.

tive of epilepsy the description of a bystander might be, the doctor who examined the sufferer later could not be sure that the seizures were not hysterical or feigned. Now by examining the brain waves of an epileptic, even when he is not in an attack, a characteristic pattern can be recognized.

ROAD COMPLETION SET

CINCINNATI (AP) — Present plans call for completing the Northeast Expressway — the section of Interstate 71 in Hamilton County—by late 1965.

City Manager C. A. Harrell said Tuesday night that a decision by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads that the air space above the expressway belongs to Cincinnati and not to the state of Ohio cleared another obstacle from the road-building.
